

BRANDERMILL WOODS
RETIREMENT COMMUNITY

March 19, 2010

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing in enthusiastic support of the men's a capella chorus Soundworks. Their inclusion in the 2011-2012 Performing Arts Tour Directory would certainly enable a wider audience to hear these talented and professional performers.

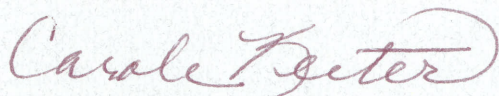

I can testify that the residents of Brandermill Woods Retirement Community, Independent Living, love Soundworks. We can always expect a full house when they sing here. The quality of the performance is flawless and the choice of musical selections covers a wide range of song writers and composers. That makes for an evening of fun and excitement.

As professional as these men are, they are down to earth and obviously enjoy what they do. As an Activities Supervisor, I am always looking for entertainers who relate to the audience and engage them in the show. The men of Soundworks banter with the residents between numbers in a congenial and lively manner. They are happy to greet and answer questions at the end of the evening. The next day I am always asked when they are scheduled to return.

On a final but important note, Soundworks is very easy to do business with. They communicate with me via email and phone calls. Their contract arrives when promised and they have never missed or cancelled a performance.

As you can see, I hold this group in high regard and am sure they will be a great addition to your already first rate list of performers in the Touring Directory. I definitely plan to invite them back here for many years to come.

Sincerely,

Carole Keiter
Activities Supervisor
